

WEBSITE PRIVACY POLICY

[QBR TRADING] – PRIVACY POLICY

The gbrtrade.com.au Site is just one example of how we may gather personal information about you. This Privacy Policy outlines our commitment to safeguarding the privacy of any personal information you supply to us or that we may otherwise collect. We, us, or our refers to [QBR TRADING ABN 895815474 90] in this privacy statement.

Personal identifying data

The types of personal information we may collect about you include:

- Your name:
- Your contact information, such as your email address, postal address, home or cell phone number:
- Your age and/or birthdate:
- your demographic data, like your postcode.
- details you give us in response to consumer surveys:
- information regarding the goods and services we've given you or about which you've inquired, as well as our response:
- Information on your browser session, geolocation, device, network, session statistics, acquisition sources, search queries, and/or browsing habits:
- details regarding your use of our site, including information obtained through Internet cookies, communications with us, the kind of browser you are using, the kind of operating system you are using, and the domain name of your ISP:
- extra personal data that you voluntarily submit to us when using our Site, affiliated applications, affiliated social media platforms, and/or accounts from which you authorise us to gather information; and
- any other personal information that you, a third party, or we may want you to supply.

We may collect these types of personal information directly from you or from third parties.

Utilisation and gathering of personal data

We may collect, hold, use and disclose personal information for the following purposes:

- any other personal information that you, a third party, or we may want you to supply.]
- to get in touch with you and communicate:
- for administrative and internal record-keeping needs:
- for business development, analytics, and market research, including running and enhancing our website, related applications, and related social media platforms:
- to hold contests and/or provide you with extra perks:
- for advertising and marketing purposes, including as sending you information about our services and products as well as details about other companies we believe you would find interesting:
- to uphold our legal obligations and settle any disagreements we might have; and

Personal data sharing with outside parties

We may disclose personal information to:

- [To the degree required for them to carry out their duties, third-party service providers, including (without limitation) information technology (IT) service providers, data storage, web hosting and server providers, debt collectors, maintenance or problem-solving providers, marketing or advertising providers, experts in the field of advice, and managers of payment systems:
- Our staff, subcontractors, and/or affiliated companies.
- Our current or potential business partners or agents.
- any sponsors or promoters of contests we hold.
- every person to whom our company or assets (or any portion of them) are or may be transferred (in good faith):
- if you don't pay for the goods or services we've delivered to you, courts, tribunals, and regulatory bodies may step in:
- In connection with any current or upcoming legal procedures, or in order to establish, exercise, or defend our legal rights; [and] before courts, tribunals, regulatory authorities, and law enforcement officers as required by law:
- third parties who help us provide information, goods, services, or direct marketing to you, including agents or subcontractors. Parties based outside of Australia or those that retain data there: and
- the use of third parties to gather and process data, like [Google Analytics or other pertinent companies]. Parties that keep data outside of Australia may fall under this category.

We might keep personal data abroad. These third parties may keep, transport, or access personal information outside of Australia if we submit your personal information to them. We will only share your personal information with nations that have laws protecting it in a manner that is substantially similar to the Australian Privacy Principles, unless we first ask for and receive your consent to do so, and/or we will take reasonable steps to ensure that overseas recipients protect your personal information in accordance with the Australian Privacy Principle.

The manner in which we handle sensitive & personal information

Under the Australian Privacy Principles, sensitive information is a subset of personal information that is assigned a greater level of protection. Sensitive information includes details on your racial or ethnic origin, political views, religion, affiliation with a trade union or other professional organisation, philosophical beliefs, sexual preferences, criminal history, health information, or biometric data.

Sensitive information is only obtained, retained, used, and disclosed for the following reasons:

- any uses that have your consent:
- the main reason it is being collected:
- for secondary reasons that are directly relevant to the original reason data was acquired, including disclosure to the third parties listed above as necessary for us to serve you with our services:
- where we reasonably believe there is a severe risk to your life, health, or safety or the life, health, or safety of another person, and it is impractical for us to acquire your consent; to notify emergency services; to speak with your family, partner, or support person; and
- unless prohibited or permitted by law.

Your legal rights and managing your personal data

Agreements & Choice: This privacy statement should be carefully read. By giving us your personal information, you agree that it will be gathered, stored, used, and disclosed in line with this privacy statement. You are not required to give us any personal information, but failing to do so may limit how you can use this Site and/or the goods and/or services made available on or through it.

Data obtained from outside sources: We shall safeguard your personal information as outlined in this Privacy Policy if we obtain it from a third party. If a third party is sending personal information about another person to us, you represent and warrant that you have the person's permission to do so.

Limitations: You have the option to limit how your personal information is collected or used. You can withdraw your consent at any time if you have already given us permission to use your personal information for direct marketing purposes by getting in touch with us using the information provided below.

Admissions: You have the right to enquire about the specifics of the personal data we maintain on you. Such information may be provided for a small administrative cost. In certain situations, as described in the Privacy Act of 1988 (Cth), we may refuse to give you access to the personal data we have on you.

Amendments: Please get in touch with us using the details below if you think any information, we have on you is unreliable, outdated, incomplete, irrelevant, or misleading. If any information is discovered to be incorrect, lacking, deceptive, or outdated, we will make a reasonable effort to fix it.

Objections: Please get in touch with us using the information below if you think we've violated the Australian Privacy Principles and want to file a complaint and be sure to include all the specifics of the alleged violation. We will quickly investigate your complaint, then get back to you in writing with the findings of our enquiry and the steps we intend to take to address it.

Unsubscribe: Please contact us using the information below or opt-out using the opt-out options given in the communication to unsubscribe from our email database or to opt-out of communications (including marketing communications).

Security & Storage

We are devoted to maintaining the security of the personal data we gather. We have appropriate physical, electronic, and administrative safeguards in place to protect the personal information from misuse, interference, loss, and unauthorised access, modification, and disclosure. These safeguards are in place to prevent unauthorised access or disclosure.

Information sent to or from us over the Internet cannot be guaranteed to be secure by us. Information is exchanged and transmitted at the user's own risk. Despite the precautions we take to prevent unauthorised disclosures of information, we are unable to guarantee that the personal information we collect won't be used in ways that are against this Privacy Policy.

Website Cookies & Beacons

On occasion, we may utilise cookies on our website. Cookies are text files that are installed in the browser of your computer to save your preferences. Cookies by themselves do not reveal your email address or any other details that may be used to identify you personally. However, as part of our retargeting initiatives, they do permit third parties like Google and Facebook to have our adverts show up on your social network and online media feeds. Your personal information may be connected to the information kept in the cookie if and when you choose to supply it to our site.

Web beacons may occasionally be used on our website. Web beacons, often referred to as Clear GIFs, are tiny pieces of code that are added to a website to track visitor behaviour and gather information about how they use the page.

Web beacons can be used, for instance, to track the number of users who visit a website or to send a cookie to a visitor's browser while they are viewing a particular page.

External webpage links

Links to other websites may be found on our website. These websites are not under our control, and we are not liable for maintaining the security and privacy of any personal data you enter while visiting them. The terms of this privacy statement do not apply to those websites.

Amendments

This privacy policy may be modified at any time and at our discretion by posting the revised privacy policy on our website. To make sure you are aware of our most recent Privacy Policy, we advise you to frequently check our website.

Please get in touch with us with any enquiries.

QBR TRADING ABN 89581547490

Email: q.beambrx@gmail.com

Last update: Aug 2023